A traffic stop cannot be extended indefinitely just because an officer wants to keep investigating. Once the purpose of the stop has been accomplished, the stop is supposed to last only as long as reasonably necessary to address the reason for the stop. Officers generally cannot extend a stop beyond its original purpose. If an officer asks, "Do you mind if I search your car?" remember that it is a request, not necessarily a command. In many situations, officers are continuing to pursue the rest of the people named in the warrants. An investigation remains ongoing, and officers are continuing to investigate.
